

ENGLISCH

PRESENTATION OF AIR LIQUIDE GERMANY

Air Liquide is a world leader in gases, technologies and services for industry and health. Gases play a central role for industry and that is why in Germany 100.000 customers rely on Air Liquide – from individual tradesmen to multinational companies. If you are in the business of manufacturing steel, packaging foodstuffs in a protective atmosphere, producing medicines safely, or making semiconductors in clean rooms, you are most likely relying on solutions from Air Liquide. Air Liquide produces gases for industrial and medical applications from the field of steel and metal processing, chemical, food and pharmaceutical industries, automotive and electronics, medicine and environmental technology – and it is always close to its customers to ensure maximum availability. The faith its customers and partners place in Air Liquide make it a market leader in Germany in terms of economic performance, investment and innovative power.