Pure outdoor living in style

A conservatory turns backyard vegetable gardening into a delightful experience. And that is just the tip of the iceberg lettuce. It is simply perfect as an open-air living room and ideal for gastronomic events. Did someone say party? Where better than right here in the conservatory! Go ahead and transform it into a full-fledged living extension – even a garden office.

A greenhouse always rhymes with fine weather.

Let's go sustainable for the love of the world

Apace with the times and trends

ACD® is a passionate Belgian manufacturer specialising in greenhouses, garden rooms and garden pavilions. "But our 'glass houses' are teeming with possibilities: from stylish greenhouses to catering applications, plus added value in project development. Sometimes, you hear people speak of a greenhouse on a human scale – bespoke for people's needs and overall well-being, pure and simple," says Lieven Develtere, co-director of ACD® from Roeselare.

At ACD® we rock your garden

A dynamic family business

ACD® (short for „Aluminium Constructie Develtere“) manufactures premium hobby greenhouses and garden rooms in circular aluminium and glass. It is a dynamic family business headed by Cristof Develtere, his brother Lieven and his son Willem. ACD® is synonymous with quality, sustainable expertise and highly personalised service. With its latest greenhouses, ACD® not only plays the eco-card but also has a top trump up its sleeve. „Because besides the traditional greenhouse, which is still indispensable for any right-minded garden enthusiast, you can opt for a living conservatory that beckons you to savour the outdoors even more.“

Ultimate gardening your short chain

A greenhouse means opting for the short chain: fresh produce straight from the garden to your table. It is Lieven's thing. "Eating what you grow has many benefits: it's tasty and healthy, plus you save money and do your bit for the environment." These famous greenhouses have put ACD® on the map and are the mainstay so to speak.

A snog for all seasons

Greenhouse of the future

That greenhouse is due for a new lease on life with a twist: autonomy. Taking a break from the world for a while feels great. “This creates a self-regulating ‘food forest’ that is productive, biodiverse, and contributes to the local ecology as well. You moreover engage in permaculture: meeting food needs while working for the well-being of our planet.”

From greenhouse to plate.
Short chain, small footprint.

ACD® boasts an impressive range of greenhouses.

Inspiring greenhousing brings you back to basics

Enticing models

For fans of the English country style, ACD®'s 'Victorienne' comes in two versions: 4.45 metres or an impressive 5.93 metres long. Or how about the best of both worlds in one design? ACD® is proud to present a unique combination, 'Combo': grow and store, live and experience!

Live outdoor like indoor enjoy together

Elegant design

'Hélène' and 'Sophie' are genuine orangeries. Their design creates a homely feeling outdoors. ACD® adheres to the highest quality standards in construction as well as glazing.

'Léonie' is a garden room in quartz grey. This model adds that extra touch of look and feel, and you can always enjoy a beautiful starry sky in the evening thanks to the clear glass roof.

Life is great in the tiny greenhouse

But ACD® is also committed to elegant design. The residential conservatory becomes the second mainstay of the company. Greenhouses from the new range thus find their way to all those who appreciate timeless (garden) architecture.

Paradise is closer than you think

A stone's throw from heaven

And did you know that heavenly paradise is just a stone's throw away? All thanks to the 'Bora Bora' line from ACD®. A conservatory with a patio and a lounge. Sheer comfort! The 3.3 version boasts an area of 13.46 m². But this high-level bespoke design means multiple possibilities. "If you want to garden behind glass, unwind and host social gatherings, then this deluxe conservatory is just perfect for you."

Business & Pleasure food and dining work space & meeting room

ACD® now relies on a third mainstay. A garden room can be used as an outdoor kitchen, company bistro or relaxation area in wellness centers, for instance. Companies opt to use it as a pleasant meeting room. For the hospitality sector, conservatories provide a solution to expand premises with class. You live the outdoors to the full, while taking the culinary experience to a higher level. "A conservatory is a haven for relaxation and revitalisation come rain or come shine."

It's all about bringing people together

Bringing people together

ACD® would not be ACD® if they weren't brewing up new ideas again where the key words are greenhousing and sustainability. "We want to inspire cities and municipalities to install greenhouses – a delightful way of bringing people together," says Lieven Develtere. This laudable initiative brings the well-known concept of allotment gardens to mind. We are already seeing ACD® greenhouses sprouting up at residential care centres, hospitals, rehabilitation centers, schools, ... Wonderful! An extra eco-friendly step and ideal for health. The residents are of one mind: our greenhouse boosts our spirits and keeps us young.

Greenhouses provide a unique experience everywhere.

Project & construct

Finally, there is a fourth and final mainstay: construction and project. Do you want to expand the property when renovating, or are you dreaming of a garden room when building a new house by bring the garden into the house? Do commercial premises need a substantial extension? Original glass meeting room or 'office hub', unique outdoor meeting room, semi-industrial greenhouses? Greenhouses provide versatile solutions as extensions or standalone units alike. Everyone feels good, everyone is happy thanks to ACD® innovation.

Every greenhouse project means an overall upgrade.

ACD® stands for far more than greenhouses. "We inspire and advise in terms not only of product selection but also of accessories and furnishings. We also encourage people to use their greenhouses year round and raise climate awareness among everyone," concludes Lieven Develtere. You can call it 'ROE', Return on experience.
